UK & Europe

This is a helper for a stressful moment, not legal advice. Guidance is based on GOV.UK, police, MIB and Your Europe sources. It cannot be correct for every country, police force or circumstance. Local emergency services and your insurer always take priority.

European Accident Statement

Signing agrees the facts, not liability. Do not sign what you don't understand.

France: paper form only

e-constat usually can't be used with a UK-registered vehicle

Record EAS-equivalent details

Plate, country, insurer, policy, Green Card, circumstances

Photograph the scene

Guided checklist — positions, damage, plates, hitch, road, documents

Details: witnesses, weather, factual notes

Stay factual. Never admit fault or speculate.

Tell your insurer & share the incident pack

Report even if you are not claiming

What the law actually requires

- 1 Stop. Failing to stop is an offence, however minor the damage looks.
- 2 Give your details to anyone with reasonable grounds to ask: name, address, registration, and the owner's details if the vehicle is not yours.
- 3 Produce insurance if anyone is injured, or report it and produce it later.
- 4 Report to police within 24 hours if you did not exchange details at the scene.
- 5 Tell your insurer even if you do not intend to claim — policies have their own time limits.

Emergency or non-emergency?

Call 999

- Anyone injured
- Road blocked or people in danger
- Fire
- Suspected drink, drugs or violence
- Driver leaving or has left

Call 101 or report online

- MOT, SORN or tax problem found at the scene
- Details could not be exchanged
- Other driver refuses to cooperate
- You suspect a driving offence
- Plate may not match the vehicle

Lookup red flags and what changes

Signal	What it means	What the app tells you to do
MOT not valid	Using a vehicle on a public road without a valid MOT is a police matter. DVLA and DVSA cannot act. Maximum fine £1,000.	Keep exchanging details. Report on 101 or online — not 999 unless there is danger. Tell your insurer. Photograph the plate and note the lookup time.
SORN	The vehicle should not be on a public road at all, except travelling to a pre-booked MOT. A strong hint it may also be uninsured.	As above, and treat as possibly uninsured. Police plus insurer. MIB may be able to help if they turn out to have no cover.
Untaxed	Licensing offence enforced by DVLA.	Report it, tell your insurer, keep the plate photo.
Marked for export	The vehicle should not be in normal UK use.	Flag to police and your insurer.
Make or colour mismatch	The plate may not belong to the vehicle in front of you.	If it is safe, call 101 while everyone is still at the scene.
Foreign plate	UK lookup cannot run.	Switch to the foreign-vehicle branch: registration country and Green Card number.
Insurance unconfirmed	No app can check another vehicle's insurance.	Ask to see a certificate or Green Card. askMID can check another vehicle after an accident for a fee.

If a foreign vehicle hits you in the UK

UK rules still apply — same stop, exchange and photographs. Ask whether they know their Green Card number; if not, the registration number is the minimum you need. Your claim is normally handled by the foreign insurer's UK representative, or by MIB if you cannot identify who that is. A European Accident Statement is useful if they produce one, but it is not the UK process and you should not insist on it.

An accident in Europe

- The law of the country where it happened applies, so the claims process may not look like the UK one. 112 works everywhere in the EU.
- Complete a European Accident Statement (constat amiable, parte amistoso) if you can. The layout is identical in every language, so you can each complete it in your own. Signing records the agreed facts — it is not an admission of blame. Do not sign anything you do not understand, and keep a copy.
- Hi-vis is often mandatory before you step out of the vehicle. Spain's V16 beacon replaces the warning triangle from 2026.
- France: the e-constat app generally cannot be used when one vehicle is registered outside France, so carry a paper form. Call the police or gendarmerie if anyone is hurt or the other driver will not cooperate.
- Green cards are not required for UK vehicles in the EU/EEA and several other listed countries, but you still need valid insurance. If you tow, you may need a separate card or trailer cover outside that list.

Claiming from the UK after Brexit

UK residents can generally no longer claim through the UK MIB visiting-victims route. In practice you claim against the foreign insurer in the country where the accident happened, or against that country's guarantee fund if the driver was uninsured or is untraced. MIB can still point you to the right organisation. Protection varies by country, which makes your own comprehensive cover abroad more important than it used to be — check before you travel whether your policy drops to third-party only outside the UK.

Photograph checklist

Not a legal list — this is what insurers actually use. Only take photographs if it is safe to do so.

- | | |
|---|---|
| ☐ Vehicle positions — wide shot before anything is moved | ☐ Caravan or trailer — body, steadies, any load shift |
| ☐ Damage to your vehicle — close and wide | ☐ Road and surroundings — layout, signs, markings, lights |
| ☐ Damage to their vehicle — all vehicles involved | ☐ Debris and skid marks — before traffic clears them |
| ☐ Every number plate — tow vehicle and caravan separately | ☐ Weather and visibility — plus a recognisable landmark |
| ☐ Hitch and coupling — A-frame, breakaway cable, jockey wheel | ☐ Their documents — only if offered; never take them |

Also record

At the scene

- Time, date and exact location
- GPS or What3Words
- Witness names and phone numbers
- A short factual note of what happened

Afterwards

- Police reference or incident number
- Report to your insurer
- See a doctor if anything hurts later
- Keep receipts for related costs

Lyneqo Caravan & Motorhome records what you enter and stores photographs on your device. It is not an official European Accident Statement and is not a substitute for exchanging details, calling emergency services, or reporting to your insurer.
